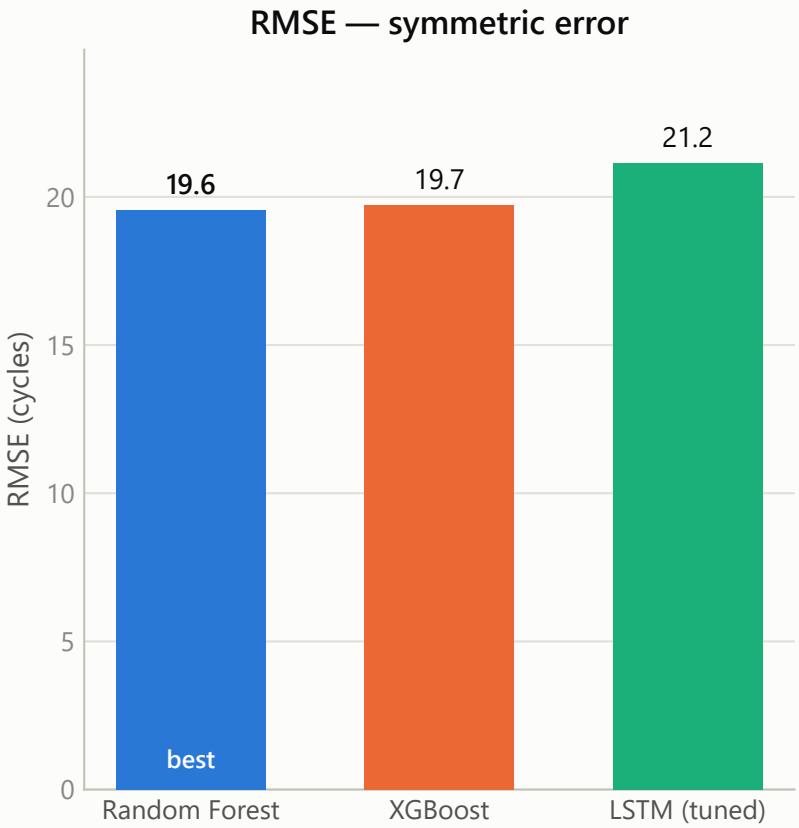
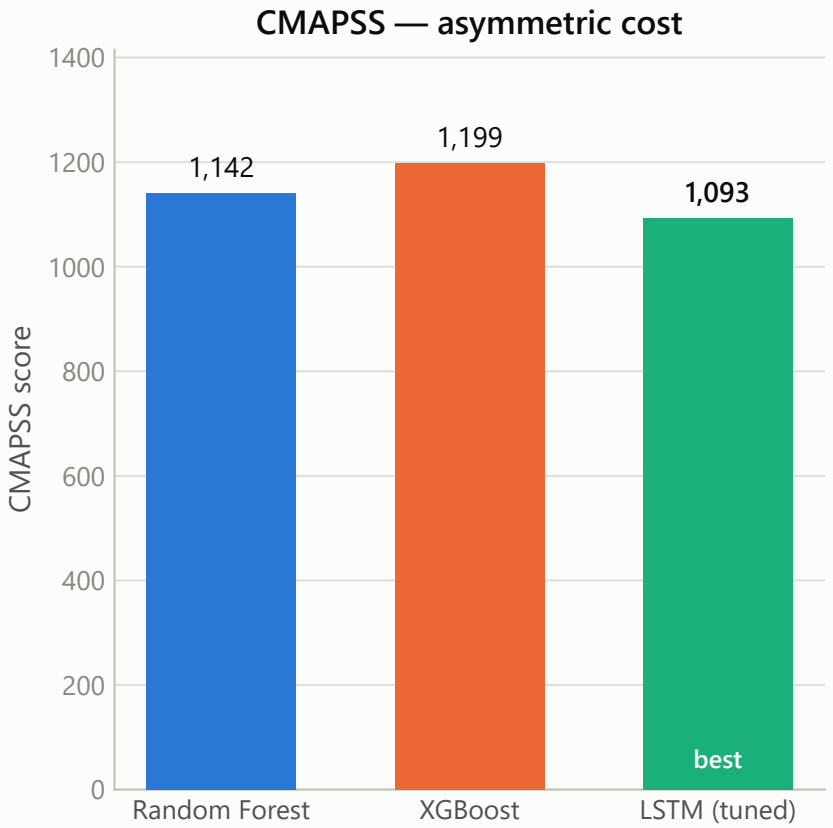
The same three models rank differently depending on the metric





CMAPSS penalises overestimated RUL exponentially harder than underestimated RUL. The LSTM has the worst RMSE of the three and the best CMAPSS score — it makes larger errors, but fewer of the ones that let an engine run past failure.